We believe that all kids can learn, achieve, and rise to a bright future. Our purpose is to provide education that extends beyond graduation and prepares our students to be the next generation of innovators and problem-solvers.

Engagement is the foundation of learning and growth, for students, adults, and the school community. We will be successful when all students actively engage in their own learning, when adults engage in their own learning, when the school district is consistently learning and growing to respond to the needs of students and schools. We must all engage and take collective responsibility for ensuring student success so that every child has a chance to rise.

To create this engagement, our vision is to build a portfolio of great schools that empower students to achieve success in college, career and life through purposeful, supportive and meaningful learning experiences. To ensure those learning experiences, we must strive to engage the whole child – the academic learning, social-emotional growth, and health that enable students and schools to rise.

As we work, we hold tight to the values of collaboration, growth and innovation, and equity.
